

The Allianz European Demographer Award

Demographic change is one of the major challenges European societies will face in upcoming decades. In order to support outstanding research on the causes and consequences of population developments in Europe, the Allianz SE, in the framework of the Berlin Demography Forum (<https://www.berlinerdemografieforum.org/en/>), and in collaboration with Population Europe (www.population-europe.eu), the network of Europe's foremost demographic research institutes, invites proposals for nominees for the

Allianz European Demographer Award.

The prize will honor outstanding research in the field of population studies on demographic change in Europe. The research should be at the frontier of mathematical, biological, historical, political, social, economic or qualitative population studies, achieved by researchers in the early stage of their careers. This includes candidates with a PhD completed recently or within the past ten years. Candidates should have an outstanding scientific track record, showing great promise as population researchers.

Candidates have to be nominated by a senior researcher. Nominations should include a short (maximum one page) explanatory statement by the nominator, as well as the candidate's curriculum vitae, including a complete list of publications, and PDFs of two publications published or accepted for publication. Nominations will be treated as confidential.

The applications will be evaluated by a committee of the Council of Advisors of Population Europe, chaired by the president of the Council, Prof. Dr. Francesco C. Billari, University of Oxford. The successful candidate will be invited to the awards ceremony, which will be held on occasion of the opening event of the Berlin Demography Forum on 24 February 2016, with eminent decision-makers and representatives from research, the economy, as well as political and societal organizations in attendance. The prize winner will receive a certificate and 3,000 euros in prize money.

Please send your nomination, compiled into one PDF, by Friday, 16 October 2015 to allianz-award@population-europe.eu with subject "Allianz European Demographer Award".
