International Population Conference

Countdown to IPC2025!

The call for papers for the 30th International Population Conference (IPC2025), in Brisbane, Australia, 13 to 18 July 2025, received submissions from 2,320 authors. Each submission will undergo a double review by two of the 316 volunteer population experts from the IUSSP membership, before consideration by Session Organizers and Theme Conveners for session proposals. Read more on the programme, side meetings, Research Leader Sessions, booths and other sponsorship opportunities.

Pursue a PhD in Demography at Princeton

The graduate program offered by the Office of Population Research (OPR) at Princeton University welcomes applications from strong candidates around the world. For more information on the training program in Population Studies, read the attached flyer or visit the OPR website. The application deadline for Fall 2025 admission is 1 December 2024.

Developing an inclusive demography language

Students from the Master in Population Studies, University of Groningen, are working on a project to develop an inclusive demography language useful to the global demography community. The students are now looking in particular (but not exclusively) for researchers or students who have a visual impairment themselves. If you are interested in being interviewed by or brainstorming with the students, please fill out the form by 30 September.

Countdown to IPC2025!

The Call for Papers closed on 16 September with 2,320 submissions. This was a welcome increase in submissions over IPC2021, when the COVID-19 pandemic greatly reduced the number of abstracts submitted compared to the previous IPCs. For this Call for Papers, a one-submission rule per presenting author was enforced to increase the opportunity for more individuals to be included in the final scientific programme while reducing the workload of reviewers, session organisers and theme conveners.

Authors could submit a paper to one of the 72 member-organised session topics or to one of 24 theme topics. The most popular thematic areas were Fertility, Sexual and Reproductive Health and Rights, Health and Morbidity and Gender Dynamics. There were however submissions to all 24 thematic areas.

Submissions came from 2,320 authors in 103 countries across Asia, Europe, Africa, North America, and Latin America. The region with the largest number of submissions was Asia-Pacific, unsurprising given the location of the next Conference in Australia. A large number of submissions came from India (608). The other top-twenty countries with the most submissions include: the United States (284), Nigeria (129), Australia (91), Italy (85), China (83), France (68), United Kingdom (68), Germany (65), Brazil (63), South Africa (56), Spain 50), Cameroon (43), Ghana (39), Canada (34), Burkina Faso (28), Bangladesh (24), Mexico (23), Uganda (22), and Belgium (20).

Each submission will undergo a double review by two of the 316 volunteer population experts from the IUSSP membership, before consideration by Session Organizers and Theme Conveners for session proposals. Organizers and conveners will curate engaging and cohesive sessions based on the high-quality papers identified by the reviewers, ensuring they reflect the geographic diversity of the field. The International Organizing Committee will then review these proposals and approve the scientific program in early December. Authors will be notified of the status of their abstracts by 15 January 2025.

Registration

Registration will open on 15 January. Please note that member discounts will be available only to members whose membership status is current. For members who did not let their membership lapse since IPC 2021, there will be an additional discount on the membership rate in appreciation for their fidelity. We will be writing these members directly.

Travel Support

Procedures for applying for financial assistance will be provided to all participants on the scientific programme. All participants are strongly encouraged to seek financial support from their own institutions, other national bodies, local representatives of international donors, international institutions and foundations active in the population field. While the IUSSP and the National Organizing Committee (NOC) hope to provide a limited number of travel awards, priority for these awards will be given to participants from low-income countries whose paper or poster has been accepted for the scientific programme and who are IUSSP members in good standing.

Research Leader Sessions

Research Leader Sessions are another opportunity for members and their institutions to contribute to the Conference Programme. Twenty session slots will be set aside on the regular scientific programme of the conference to accommodate these sessions. Institutions interested in showcasing the results of a recent research project or raising awareness of their organization's work in the field are encouraged to submit a proposal by 1 December 2024. For more information: <https://iussp.org/en/ipc2025-research-leader-sessions>

Side meetings & workshops

The National Organizing Committee (NOC) of IPC2025 is now taking Expressions of Interest to host side meetings, workshops, or training courses before, after and during the conference. During the week of the conference, side events can be accommodated at BCEC conference centre in the morning (breakfast meetings) or in the evenings, after the last session of the day. The week before and after the conference, rooms for groups of different sizes are available at the University of Queensland and surrounding hotels. The NOC has a small number of complimentary and low-cost room options, so please get in touch early if you wish to secure one of these. Please contact the NOC at IPC2025.NOC@gmail.com to discuss your needs, and to obtain a price estimate.

Exhibit Booths and other sponsorship opportunities

The International Population Conference will offer unparalleled opportunities for both commercial and non-commercial organisations to showcase their products and services. For more information on sponsorship and exhibition packages as well as advertising opportunities: <https://ipc2025.iussp.org/sponsorship-prospectus/>

Important dates:

- 1 December 2024 - Deadline to submit Research Leader Session propositions
- 15 January 2025 - Author notification for papers and posters
- 15 January 2025 - Website opens for Conference Registration and financial assistance applications
- 15 February 2025 - Deadline for financial assistance applications
- 1 April 2025 - Deadline for side meeting and exhibit booth requests
- 1 April 2025 - Deadline for presenting authors to register to confirm paper on programme
- 1 April 2025 - Expiration of early bird reduced registration fee
- 13 July 2025 - Conference Opening Ceremony

IPC2025 Research Leader Sessions

Become a knowledge partner and raise awareness of your organization's research and work in the population field, submit a Research Leader Session proposal for IPC 2025. A limited number of Research Leader Sessions are available on the conference program for the IUSSP International Population Conference in Brisbane Australia, 13-18 July 2025. This is an opportunity for institutions in the field to organize a session for the scientific program while supporting the participation of authors from low- and middle-income countries (LMIC) in the conference.

Proposals should include a short description of the session topic, the format for the session (scientific presentations, panel discussion, debate, etc...), a tentative list of speakers with their presentation topic (if appropriate), their institution, and email. The session topic should have a global or regional focus and preferably include speakers from more than one country or institution. The organizers will review proposals in December 2024 and select proposals of high scientific quality or policy relevance and impact.

Cost: Euro 10,000 for a 90-minute Research Leader Session. The amount will include Conference registration fees for up to 2 speakers not already in the scientific program. Speakers with a role (poster or paper presenter, chair, or discussant) in the regular program are required to pay the registration fee. Funds received will be used to support the participation of presenters from LMIC countries with a communication on the scientific program.

The deadline to submit a proposal for a Research Leader Session is 1 December 2024.

How to apply: Interested partners can write to IPC2025@iussp.org at their earliest convenience, please include in the subject line "Research Leader Session" or fill out a Research Leader Application Form here: <https://forms.gle/UNPZnrqr5RXGGA5bA> (When using the form, you can ignore the request to sign-in with a Google account).

Call for 2029 IPC Host Country candidates

The IUSSP invites national population associations and other national institutions to consider hosting the XXXI International Population Conference in 2029.

If you or other members of your national association or institution are interested in hosting the 2029 International Population Conference, please contact IUSSP Executive Director, Mary Ellen Zuppan (zuppan@iussp.org) to ask for additional information and/or let us know of your interest.

Considering four years is now the minimum amount of time required to adequately organize such a meeting and ensure the availability of conference facilities, formal bid proposals are requested for 15 March 2025, but in the meantime, expressions of interest are welcome. The host country for the 2029 International Population Conference will be announced at the Closing Ceremony at IPC2025 in Brisbane, Australia on 18 July 2025.

Information on hosting the International Population Conference:

The IUSSP organises the International Population Conference once every four years in collaboration with a host country institution. This is a major international event that draws population specialists, policymakers, academics and government officials from around the world to present the latest population research and discuss pressing global and regional population issues. Typically, between 1500 and 2000 researchers, policy makers, funders and government representatives attend these conferences.

Host country organisers can be governmental or private institutions, a national population association, or a group of institutions. Organisers can also propose a multi-country collaboration. The host country organiser is expected to handle local arrangements and costs for the Conference. Costs range between 2-3 million USD depending on the costs of services and facilities in the host country.

The final proposal should include a description of host country facilities and how the host country will organise the event, making sure to address all host country requirements listed in the guidelines; a budget of host country costs; and, a list of secured and potential donors to support the bid and/or a fundraising plan.

For more information please read:

- the IUSSP Conference Planning Guidelines.
- the International Population Conference web page.

Call for 2025 Early Career Awards nominations:

- Application Form (prepare your documentation before submitting)

- Deadline for applications: 1 October 2024
- Read instructions below.

The IUSSP Early Career Award was established by the IUSSP Council in 2023. The Award aims to acknowledge and honor outstanding contributions to the development of our discipline and the broad field of population studies by early career scholars in different world regions and boost the global visibility of their achievements.

General Information:

The IUSSP Early Career Award is offered in the following world regions: Africa, Asia and the Pacific, Europe, Latin America and the Caribbean, and North America. One award will be bestowed per region in a unique collaboration with the Union for African Population Studies (UAPS), the Asian Population Association (APA), the European Association for Population Studies (EAPS), the Latin American Population Association (ALAP), and the Population Association of America (PAA). The Awards will be bestowed every other year; the next set of awards will be announced in 2025.

Eligibility:

- Candidates should be early career scholars in the population field with not more than 7 years of experience after their PhD at the time of nomination. [Extension of the eligibility period (up to 3 years maximum) will be allowed to account for career interruptions such as maternity/paternity leave, child/elderly-care, or illness; these career interruptions should be listed in the (self-)nomination letter.*]
- candidates from a region should be a resident of that region at the time of nomination; in case of temporary postings (e.g. as a postdoc) candidates will qualify for the award from the region in which they are permanently/mainly based.
- candidates should be a member of the IUSSP at the time of nomination.
- nominations should be supported by at least 5 IUSSP members, 3 of whom should be from more than 1 country in the region of the candidate, and 2 supporters may be from other regions.
- candidates may also nominate themselves; self-nominations must be supported by at least 5 IUSSP members, 3 of whom should be from more than 1 country in the region of the candidate, and 2 supporters may be from other regions.
- nominations and self-nominations cannot be supported by members of the IUSSP Council.

Procedure:

Nominations should be made by filling out the online application form (see link above). This application form is only accessible to current IUSSP members and ensures that all nominees and sponsors are IUSSP members and meet the eligibility criteria. IUSSP members can nominate a candidate or nominate themselves.

Before filling out the application, please prepare a short justification (maximum of 1000 characters) for the nomination, and if available, short statements of support from IUSSP sponsors who have been identified as supporters. The following documents should also be prepared for uploading:

- a 1-2 page explanatory statement/letter of nomination that can also include supporting statements from sponsors,
- a full curriculum vitae including a list of publications of the candidate, and
- any justifications for leaves of absence for those who received their PhD more than 7 years ago.

You will also be asked to enter the last names of supporters to retrieve them from the IUSSP member database. Institutional affiliation and country of residence will be automatically entered based on members' profile information. Please ensure nominees and all sponsors are current IUSSP members and their profile information is up-to-date for institutional affiliation, country of residence and, for nominees, information on their diploma and date awarded. If you do not find the nominee or sponsor's name in the drop-down list, it likely means their membership has expired and they will need to renew before you complete the application, or you will need to find another sponsor. If you cannot complete the application, it will be saved and you can return to fill it in later. If you are nominating someone else, please include yourself as a sponsor.

Jury and Prize:

Nominations from each region will be judged by a Jury consisting of representatives of each regional association and IUSSP Council members from each region. This Jury will review all the selected nominations and elect 1 awardee for each region. The decision of the Jury is final and will be published on the IUSSP Website and in the IUSSP Bulletin.

The Awards will come with a Certificate and a Free Registration for the next International Population Conference of the IUSSP (IPC 2025, Brisbane, Australia), where they will be presented in an Awards ceremony.

Call for 2025 IUSSP Laureate Award nominations:

- Deadline to submit nominations: 1 November 2024.

The IUSSP Laureate Award honours exceptional achievements in the population field. Outstanding contributions to the advancement of population sciences through research, training, policy advice and science communication, as well as distinguished services rendered to the population community and the Union will be taken into consideration for this Award. Nominees should exemplify the highest standards of professional conduct.

General Information:

The IUSSP Laureate Award is bestowed every year.

IUSSP members are invited to nominate candidates for the IUSSP Laureate Award. Candidates for the Award do not have to be a member of the IUSSP. We welcome nominations of candidates from diverse backgrounds, genders and regions. Nominations should include an explanatory statement by the nominator, supporting statements of at least five IUSSP members of different nationalities, and a full curriculum of the candidate. Self-nominations will not be considered for this Award.

The IUSSP Council selects the successful candidate by secret ballot. Nominated candidates remain eligible for the Award for a period of no longer than four years.

Members of the current IUSSP Council may not be nominated for the Award nor sign a supporting statement.

Procedure:

The nomination document, including the letter of nomination and all supporting documents including the Curriculum Vitae of the nominee and any supporting emails, should be sent in one single PDF file to the IUSSP Executive Director Mary Ellen Zuppan (zuppan@iussp.org)

Please mention "IUSSP Laureate Nomination" in the subject line of the email.

Note that Individual emails of support for a candidate should be sent directly to the person coordinating the nomination, who should include these in the nomination document.

Call for 2025 IUSSP-Mattei Dogan Foundation Award nominations

- Deadline for nominations: 2 December 2024.

The International Union for the Scientific Study of Population (IUSSP) and the Mattei Dogan Foundation share a common objective: to promote interdisciplinary and comparative international work in the social sciences. In 2004, the Mattei Dogan Foundation and the IUSSP agreed to offer the Award for Comparative Research in Demography.

The Award honours a scientist of high international renown for the contribution of his or her work to the development of studies of population that draw on different disciplines' perspectives and the importance that this work has accorded to international comparisons. The Award is given to a scholar in mid-career to honour work already completed but also to encourage active researchers to continue their research. The Award carries a $3,500 USD prize. It is granted every four years at the IUSSP International Population Conference, where the IUSSP Council invites the Awardee to lecture on a subject of his or her choice.

Conditions of Eligibility

All IUSSP members nominated following the procedure listed below are eligible except for current IUSSP Council members. No age limit exists but nominees should ideally be in mid-career.

Nomination Procedure

Candidates must be nominated by IUSSP members; no self-nominations will be accepted. Documentation includes the following:

- A nomination letter signed by at least six (6) IUSSP members of at least three (3) different nationalities.
- Two (2) letters of recommendation by prominent population scientists who did not sign the nomination letter.
- A curriculum vitae that includes a complete list of the nominee's publications.

All nomination documents should be sent in one email to the IUSSP Executive Director Mary Ellen Zuppan (zuppan@iussp.org) by Monday 2 December 2024 with a subject line including "2025 IUSSP-Mattei Dogan Award" and the name of the nominee.

Selection Procedure

A Selection Committee appointed by the IUSSP Council will review the nominations and select the Awardee.

The Award will be presented during the next International Population Conference. The Awardee will give a Keynote address during the Conference.

Previous awardees:

Bruno Schoumaker (2021), Anne Gautier (2017), Gunnar Andersson (2013), Wolfgang Lutz (2009), Vladimir Shkolnikov (2005).

New members
